

Multiport sampling wells were used to extract water samples at various depths. The chemical measurements of the samples were used as input to the model BIOMARUN.

Galvanized pipes housing a pressure sensor were placed in the beach and used for water table measurement.